

Volunteer Telephone Counsellor Wanted

The Lothian Centre for Inclusive Living (LCiL) is an Edinburgh based user-led organisation which supports disabled people to live independently in the community. LCiL operates 'Your Call', a freephone Scotland-wide telephone counselling service for disabled people and people with long-term conditions.

We are looking for enthusiastic practitioners to join the existing pool of Your Call counsellors. If you have personal experience of disability and/or a long term condition and are either a trained counsellor or have successfully completed at least the first year of an on-going counselling Diploma course, then please get in touch. Due to the nature of the service, which uses Virtual Call Centre (VCC) technology, volunteer counsellors can live anywhere in Scotland.

In return for your commitment to the service of up to three hours a week, we offer training opportunities and free monthly supervision. You will also have the opportunity to contribute your ideas and enthusiasm to a new and ground-breaking service.

If you are interested, please contact the co-ordinator, Ian Fuller, to arrange an interview:

Telephone / Minicom: (0131) 475 2350

E-mail: ian.fuller@lothiancil.org.uk

Write to:

Lothian Centre for Inclusive Living,
Norton Park,
57 Albion Road
EDINBURGH EH7 5QY

